

Planning and Policy Activities

In addition to the programs and services above, NYSERDA supports a range of energy analysis, policy, and planning activities.

- We offer objective analysis of energy options for a sustainable, prosperous New York.
- We provide cost-effective and sustainable policy recommendations to guide New York in reliably meeting its growing energy needs and fostering an innovative clean energy economy.
- We provide experienced leadership, technical credibility, and a breadth of energy and environmental knowledge to State energy planning efforts to create an energy roadmap for New York.
- We serve as the energy data clearinghouse for energy price, supply, and use, to best assure energy systems operations.
