

Entrepreneurs-in-Residence Program

NEW YORK
STATE OF OPPORTUNITY.

NYSERDA

Many startups fail from inexperience and lack of expertise.
We fill those gaps to set you up for success.

The NYSERDA Entrepreneurs-in-Residence (EIR) Program, administered by Columbia Technology Ventures (CTV), provides climate technology startups with executive-level mentors to accelerate their commercialization process.

85+
EIRs
Certified

180+
Clients
Served

350+
Projects

$150M+
Grants &
Investments

For more information, visit www.climatestartupsupport.com

Mentoring

Our highly skilled EIRs guide companies through customer discovery, financial modeling, raising capital, increasing sales, building partnerships, managing supply chain, manufacturing, and more.

Grant Writing

Grant writer EIRs relieve much of the burden of researching options, assessing fit, organizing, and editing critical proposals with the result of increasing the likelihood of funding.

Pitch Coaching

Select EIRs have helped companies raising millions in capital and awards by preparing teams for investor pitches, competitions, sales presentations, and more.

C-Level Matching

The EIR program leverages its large network of serial entrepreneurs to help startups build better management teams, which is the most important criteria for investors.

Skills Labs

We host periodic Skills Labs based on needs expressed by our client companies and partners. The virtual sessions are open to companies that have received support from any NYSERDA program.

Climate Leadership Network

This network facilitates the sharing of knowledge, connections, news, events, and more across the climate technology innovation ecosystem in New York.

Ready to get started?

Go to www.climatestartupsupport.com

 COLUMBIA | TECHNOLOGY VENTURES

