Energize your campus for a sustainable tomorrow

The New York State Energy Research and Development Authority (NYSERDA) College and University effort provides assistance and support to higher education institutions with campuses in New York State, helping them to achieve their energy and environmental objectives while maintaining a healthy bottom line.

We'll help you make educated energy-related decisions

NYSERDA has broad experience helping colleges and universities lower their energy consumption and costs. From multi-campus statewide universities to small community colleges, we've helped hundreds of educational facilities across the State realize advantages that can result from energy efficiency, including:

- Attracting more top-notch students and professors
- Increased online educational offerings
- Inspiring better donations from community businesses and alumni
- Increased student and staff comfort
- An enhanced reputation as a sustainability leader
- Larger grants for research studies

Team up with our experts to improve your campus

With demonstrated experience assisting colleges and universities, our NYSERDA project consultants know how to find energy solutions that work and are here to guide you through the process. We can help you with key areas such as:

- Commissioning
- Use of energy-efficient lighting
- Incorporating energy efficiency into sustainability and carbon-reduction plans

Implement measures that will make the most impact

Every campus has unique requirements for controlling and reducing energy. NYSERDA can help you define those energy efficiency needs and find the right support resources for your project(s). Some of the most common measures successfully implemented by colleges and universities include:

- Heating system upgrades
- Interior and exterior lighting retrofits
- Chillers/VFD upgrades
- HVAC upgrades
- Demand-controlled ventilation
- Occupancy sensors
